Carmel Valley likely to have three new stables

Three new stables may soon be operating in Carmel Valley: one near the mouth of the Valley has been approved by the County Planners to be run by Ray Hackworth; one in the Farm Center area already being operated by the Alex Hales who recently moved from Pt. Lobos, and a permit for a third is being sought in the upper Valley.

HACKWORTH STABLES OK'D

A use permit for a horse training stables and riding academy has been granted by Monterey County Zoning Administrator to Ray Hackworth.

A well known trainer, shower, and judge of horses, Mr. Hackworth is leasing the big red barns and immediate area about three miles up the Valley from Carmel on the left side of Carmel Valley Road from Howard Morgens of Ohio.

The 450 acres of the property is owned by Howard Morgens of Ohio who purchased it a few months ago from Barbro Thacker. It was originally the Howard Hatton property and was purchased by Paul Porter who in turn sold it to Mrs. Thacker.

Mr. Hackworth plans to move to Carmel Valley from Salinas in the near future and will begin business immediately.

The Lower Valley Advisory Committee recommended approval of the application and it was the decision of the Zoning Administrator to grant the permit subject to the following conditions:

That the applicant construct a multi-use driveway.

Provide sanitary facilities for public and patrons.

That there be no activity after dark requiring the use of flood-lighting or similar illumination other than that necessary for normal vision.

That there be no banners, pennants, streamers or similar attention-getting displays other than those used for special events, and that their use be limited to the time of the special event.

That the design of all signs and any future structures be subject to the approval of the Planning Commission.

That this permit expire on December 23, 1973.

'Good Egg' awards to be made at CV Chamber Banquet Friday; big membership drive planned

"Good egg" awards will be made to several outstanding Valleyites at the annual Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce installation banquet this Friday night at Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club.

Plans are in readiness for the event, Dr. Ed Marcucci, who will MC the event as in recent years, announced at the January directors' meeting at Plaza Linda Restaurant Thursday noon.

Ted Durien, Monterey Herald managing editor, will be featured speaker.

Cocktails will start at 7 and the dinner at 8 p.m.

New Chamber Pres. Bob Kvenild took over at the directors' meeting from Tom Bottaro, retiring president.

Kvenild announced membership of a new Chamber Finance Committee: Bottaro, Kvenild, Mrs. Pat Swan and Al Smith. Other committees will be announced shortly, he said.

Joe Ricupero for the Membership Committee said that his group, which is chaired by Lou Gardner, will conduct a membership drive for 70 days to determine what results will be achieved, and, after that, will if necessary, approve paying a commission for a membership solicitor.

The three Valley banks, Kvenild said, have cooperated by providing names and addresses of business establishments in the Valley. These, which number about 200, will receive a newly planned monthly newsletter, Kvenild announced.

The newsletter, which will be mimeographed with the help of the CV Lions Club on its machine, will be addressed on CV Outlook addressograph equipment.

Joe Ricupero suggested that new businessmen be welcomed into the community with a Chamber certificate, offering special prices for a short time.

An exact budget on expenditure of the county's $2,000 contribution to the Chamber for promotion will be worked out by the Finance and Advertising Committees. Last year the local Chamber spent for promotion, Kvenild explained, $526 for newspaper advertising, $955 for brochures and $27 for wild flower seeds.

The county contribution, according to a letter from Walter Mansfield, county administrator, must be spent for promotion: advertising or exhibits which show an area's advantages such as at a fair or exhibition.

Rex White pointed out that the Cachagua COMSAT earth station will become a major drawing attraction for visitors. He said that about 12,000 people visited the Brewster Flat COMSAT station last year, and it was in much more of an isolated spot than the local one. Grand opening and first open house is scheduled in March, he said.

Kvenild announced that he had discussed the possibility of having engineer Clayton Neil, Jr. draw up a plan to develop CV Road through the Village with the same center park treatment as Ocean Ave., Carmel.

Dr. Ed Marcucci, a board member and County PlanCom member, felt that this would be a too long-range study, "10 or 15 years away," to spend money on now. He added that such treatment would probably not leave enough parking room.

Paul Porter suggested that an objective study should be made before such definite plans should be pushed.

Dr. Marcucci pointed out that the county has financed two Village plans, which are available for use and habitually seem to be ignored.

Luis Wolters urged more tree-planting, perhaps pines, to help beautify the Village.

EDITORIAL

Well, the New Year is now far enough along so that most of us have recovered from New Year's Eve festivities, as well as the "ordeal" of the endless New Year's Day bowl games.

That's saying a lot--even after a week has passed by.

And most everyone, hopefully, has gotten used to writing '1969' instead of '1968' although year-long habits aren't easy to break.

New Year's Resolutions aren't the 'in' thing they used to be--let's face it. Those daring souls who somehow feel an irresistible inner compulsion to attempt something this foolish, no doubt are feeling better already. They have succeeded in badly bending if not breaking such impossible resolves already.

Those who operate out of that modern miracle of brain pooling, better known as 'Think Tanks', are quick to remind us that the best resolutions, if any, come at any time of the year, (and actually should be avoided at such an emotional breaking-off point as the end of an old year that most of us are glad to stash away in the more remote corners of our memory).

Quite a number of people in Carmel Valley have been active on the Resolution front during the past year. These pertain to a personal, and in many cases, a community-wide, dedication to preserving that which is most valuable in this unique valley, surely one of California's most scenic.

And that is, of course, its natural beauty.

And it isn't that everyone here agrees on how it should be done.

The problem is now, and will always be in the future, just how the people and the natural beauty of the area can be allowed to co-exist with a maximum degree of compatibility.

One needs the other.

But man being what he is, frequently carried away with the gains of the immediate present, is realizing more and more that his personal presence is a passing one--and that he lives more to pass on his environment to the countless generations that will follow--better than he found it.

This surely can be the most satisfying approach to a problem that all here share with equal concern.

The Resolutions that will be made to ensure the orderly development of Carmel Valley during this and succeeding years are a needed expression of concern.

And made as they are by a cross-section of its many talented and concerned residents, they are the kind that not only will not be broken, but will be the basis for even more difficult Resolutions that will have to be made in the unpredictable years that lie ahead. GMD

PROPHECY

Well, now that our flyers have circled the Moon,
It won't be much longer 'til others will land
And build us a town by some lunar lagoon,
Impelled by Big Business and Public Demand.

It's easy to see what the next step will be,
Since other explorers are on the same quest:
Another great city, perhaps two or three,
Will rise, and the race will go on, as you've guessed.

From there they'll be shooting for Venus and Mars
And franchise the Greyhounds to tour outer space
And colonize many more planets and stars:
The only hope left for the whole human race.

Some won't live to see it since life here is short,
But that's not the all or the end of the rope,
For many achievements, at present unthought,
Await us and promise unlimited scope.

For instance, when space is our domain to roam,
Some Brain will come up with solutions for Peace
And maybe can clean up the mess here at home;
Or is that too much to expect from our police?

Willard T. Branson Named Chairman of County Supervisors

Willard T. Branson of Carmel Valley was elected chairman of the Monterey County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Branson, 48, is a Monterey insurance man and has been vice chairman of the county board for the past year. He succeeds Supervisor Bob Wood of Greenfield. A new chairman is elected each year, and the position is usually rotated among the board members.

Appointed to the board by Gov. Ronald Reagan on March 1, 1967, Branson then won a 3-way race for a regular 4-year term last June in an election that he won easily.

The vacancy which Branson originally filled came after the resignation of Tom Hudson of Point Lobos.

5th Grade problem to be discussed by board tonight

The proposal to transfer fifth grade classes to Elementary Schools will be open for public discussion tonight at a meeting of the Carmel Unified School District board of education.

Among other items on the agenda which the board will take up is the forthcoming Consolidated Board Member Election on April 15.

The board meeting starts at 7:30 at Mariqueta Brey Hall at Carmel High School.

This is 'Clean-Up Week' for all of Carmel Valley

It is clean-up week this week in Carmel Valley.

Business people and residents in the Valley were reminded at the CV Chamber of Commerce directors meeting Thursday of the free pickup service for additional debris.

The two garbage companies are offering this week to pick up additional material at no extra cost if boxed and placed next to regular garbage cans. The extra collection will be made at the same time as regular pickups.

Another Valley wide clean-up will be scheduled in June, Tom Bottaro, retiring Chamber president, announced.

Two choral works at Hartnell

The Hartnell Community Chorus held auditions yesterday for the forthcoming performance of "Kodally Tedeum" and "Mass in Time of War," which is sometimes called "Drum Mass."

The two choral works will be presented on March 2 at the San Juan Bautista Mission.

Another $1000 gift for cobalt cancer fund

Monterey Peninsula Medical Assistants has just contributed another $1,000 to the Cobalt Cancer Fund of Community Hospital.

The gift was presented to Arthur C. Stewart, trustee of the hospital, by Mrs. Elaine Silva, president of the association.

Mr. Stewart said the check from the Medical Assistants Association brings to $2,500 the amount that organization has contributed to the fund to finance a cobalt cancer therapy center at the hospital.

The money was raised by the association at its recent annual dinner and fashion show held at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. The benefit event is a social highlight of the year.

Present at the check presentation in the radiology department at the hospital was Dr. Ben M. Dahle, radiologist, who explained that the addition which will house the new diagnostic center is now under construction. It will include a Cobalt 60 treatment unit.

The new diagnostic center, Dr. Dahle said, will be in operation within two years. In addition to Cobalt 60 treatment, the center will provide conventional X-ray, radio isotope and chemical therapy treatment. Peninsula patients now needing Cobalt 60 treatment must travel to San Jose.

Carmel High Players present Jean Anouilh play next week

A modern-dress Jean Anouilh drama will be presented by the Carmel High Drama Production Class under the direction of Diana Hardy on Jan. 16, 17, and 18 in Brey Hall.

Providing an element of surprise, a different one-act play will precede "Antigone" each performance with titles to be announced prior to the show.

This will be the first set of productions to make use of the new drapery and lighting innovations in Brey Hall. These installations create a thrust-stage theatre concept out of the Hall.

Written in 1942 as one of his "piece noire" group of classic theme plays Anouilh's "Antigone" was first presented throughout free Europe in the mid '40's as an indictment of the totalitarian state.

This updated view of Sophocles' tragedy of family obligation vs. the authority of absolute state law was constructed along the lines of classic drama. Act or scene breaks are eliminated, with the modified chorus illuminating changes in time and place while minimal scene shifts are carried out.

The unrelieved pressure on the actors, and stark mounting of the play, make it a prime acting challenge.

The drama climaxes in the doomed clash between Antigone, ill-fated daughter of King Oedipus, and her Uncle, Creon, present regent of Thebes. Idealistic Antigone and Creon, the realist, reach an impasse of wills that devastate all each holds dear while they cling to their pride of individuality and office.

Designed to be flexible for possible touring, and to provide means for multiple interpretation, many of the roles have been double-cast. The cast includes some newcomers to the high school as well as several performers who have been featured players in Peninsula Little Theatre productions.

Tickets are $1.00 for adults, 50¢ for students, and can be purchased at the High School Bookstore or pre-performance at the door. Thursday, Jan. 16 will be a matinee starting at 3:35. Evening performances are at 8:00 p.m. on Jan. 17 and 18.

Horsemen's Assn. will meet Tuesday evening

The Carmel Valley Horsemen's Assn. will hold its first regular meeting of the new year next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

John Homes, president, said that anyone interested in joining the group is invited to attend. It meets at the Hidden Hills Riding Stables.

Dues are only $3 a year for junior members, and $5 a year for adults.

Mr. Holmes added that the most important item to be discussed at the meeting will be organizing a program of activities for the forthcoming year.

More recognition for Cypress Swim Club

Members of the local Cypress Swim Club returned to practice from Christmas vacation last Tuesday to learn that their coach and manager, Donn Squire and Del Neel, both have been appointed to the National AAU Synchronized Swimming Committee in recognition of their years of volunteer service to amateur sports.

Squire, undefeated Senior National AAU Men's Synchronized Swimming Solo Champion, was named as secretary to the national chairman, while Neel was appointed chairman of the National Championship Site Awards Committee, according to Mrs. Stanley Jones of Michigan, newly-elected chairman of the national governing body.

Neel will also continue as a member of the National Judges' Rating and Training Committee, and Squire will continue as a member of the National Stunts Committee. In addition, both men have been appointed to the National Rules Committee.

Members of the Cypress Swim Club are busily preparing for the 1969 competitive season which starts with a Pacific AAU Age-Group Stunt Meet sponsored by the Hayward Synchronettes at the Hayward Plunge February 9.

The four-year-old Cypress Swim Club has come from a relatively obscure position as one of the nation's newest clubs to a ranking among the top seven teams in National AAU synchronized swimming competition.

Rewarding Performance

Hidden Valley Concerts crippled by the 'flu'

By David J. Watkins

A major triumph was achieved last week-end by that unwelcome visitor to these shores Hong Kong "flu". With but two of the seven guest artists able to appear at Sunset Auditorium, the benefit concerts for the Hidden Valley Music Seminars attracted disastrously meager audiences.

However, those who did brave the dangers of "catching it" were rewarded by a performance of choral and instrumental music by teen-age musicians which would have done credit to the finest orchestras in the land.

The concerts were symbolized by the solitary figure of guest artist Angel Romero, alone on stage, bravely and competently giving an exquisite recital of guitar music, which his father and two brothers would normally share.

Rodrigo's 'Concierto de Aranjuez,' in which Angel was accompanied by the Hidden Valley Orchestra, was an interesting piece: unlike many concertos which follow a 'question and answer' form (the solo instrument stating the theme, upon which the orchestra elaborates), this one featured the guitar almost uninterruptedly; with the rhythmic passages and rapid runs overlaying the more legato accompaniment of the orchestra. With the increasing acceptance of the guitar into the fold of classical instruments, perhaps this as yet little known piece will find its way into the concert repertoire, given, of course, an instrumentalist as gifted as Mr. Romero.

Dr. Michael Zearott, of the Atlanta Symphony, took his first bow of the programme as soloist in Bach's Piano Concerto in D min. In between rehearsing the orchestra, Dr. Zearott has managed to polish up his own playing, and gave an accurate and competent account of this concerto. The 17-piece string section produced a fine accompaniment and moved well under Angel Romero's baton.

FAST FILL-IN

Bach's 'Wachet Auf' opened the Sunday night concert: this was a most remarkable performance, in which guests Marie Gibson and Thomas Paul were both flu-bitten, and their places were taken by James Tippey, bass, of the San Francisco Opera Company, and Gregg Wait, a Hidden Valley Chorale member. Young Wait, with barely 24 hours notice, offered to sing a tenor transposition of Miss Gibson's part, and the two men, with only a brief rehearsal that same day, turned in an astonishingly good performance. With guest Stanley Plummer, violin, the full orchestra, under John Waddell, of the Pasadena Chorale, blended perfectly with the soloists.

A special word must be accorded Terry Row, oboe, for his excellent solo work; he exhibited effortless control over his instrument, and gave a faultless display of great clarity and tone.

Beethoven's 'Egmont Overture' is a well appreciated opus which by reason of its popularity must be done well in order to succeed. The Hidden Valley Orchestra, composed of musicians from 14 - 19 years of age romped through this work with the fire, enthusiasm, and polish which one comes to expect from professional musicians of long standing. Indeed this was their best number, with the brass and woodwind sounding rich and full against the strings, which, as they did throughout, moved smoothly and provided a vigorous attack.

The second half got off to a patchy start: with the solo brass section feeling uncomfortable with the rather dissonant work of Hindemith and Dahl. There followed some unaccompanied

END OF THE LINES -- Pacific Telephone linemen Vince Tomasello (left) and Don Schmidt remove the last of the utility poles at Carmel Knolls.

The utility poles have vanished from Carmel Knolls. And so have the overhead wires that once brought telephone, power and cable TV to the residents choral numbers, with the addition of a chamber ensemble and trumpet for a piece by Pachelbel.

The utility services are still there, however, but buried now, marking the first time in Northern California that a group of citizens shared the cost with utilities to remove aerial facilities and replace them with underground lines.

CHORAL FANTASY

With Zearott conducting, and also playing piano, the program closed with a fine 'Choral Fantasy' by Beethoven. The 20-member chorale displayed markedly good tone and unity, and their smoothness and resonance gave them the vocal power of a much larger choir.

Concerning the young musicians: they had all attended the summer seminar of Hidden Valley, and had formed an 'ad hoc' music company for these concerts. Under the management of John Waddell, chorale master, and Michael Zearott, or-

Little League to organize for new season

New faces, new muscle and more encouragement is needed by the adult organization of the Carmel Valley Little League.

Men and women, whether parents, other relatives or anyone with an interest in baseball and the youth of the area are urged to come to the Carmel Valley fire station Friday at 7 p.m. to help make plans for the coming season.

All the "old stand-bys" will be there but newcomers are greatly needed. It's a wonderful way to meet your neighbors, have fun and make a real contribution to the community, according to President George Palmer.

Other League officers are George Groves, vice president; Tillie Knight, treasurer and Dr. Pat May, secretary.

Team managers last year were Sal Ocampo, Hap Thystrup, Lin Eggle and Carl Bretha for Little League and George Maddock, Dick Crane, and Steve Thigpen for the Farm League.

Each of the seven teams kept 12 to 15 boys busy last year and it is hoped that more teams can be added, with the possibility of beginning a Senior League for older boys.

The women's auxiliary has an important function in the League, for besides getting husbands and sons off to games and practices, they are in charge of the fund raising annual picnic. They also man the refreshment booths and act as score keepers at the five weekly games.

Mrs. Don McKenzie is president of the auxiliary.

WEATHER REPORT

For the week ending Jan. 6, temperatures in Carmel Valley ranged from a low of 38 degrees on Jan. 1 and 2, to a high of 78 on Monday.

There was no rain. For the season the community has received 5.94 inches, compared to a normal of 4.40 inches to this time.

Sean Connery to Play at Bing Crosby Clambake

Sean Connery, alias James Bond, is one of the super stars who will appear for the first time in the Bing Crosby Clambake on Jan. 23-26.

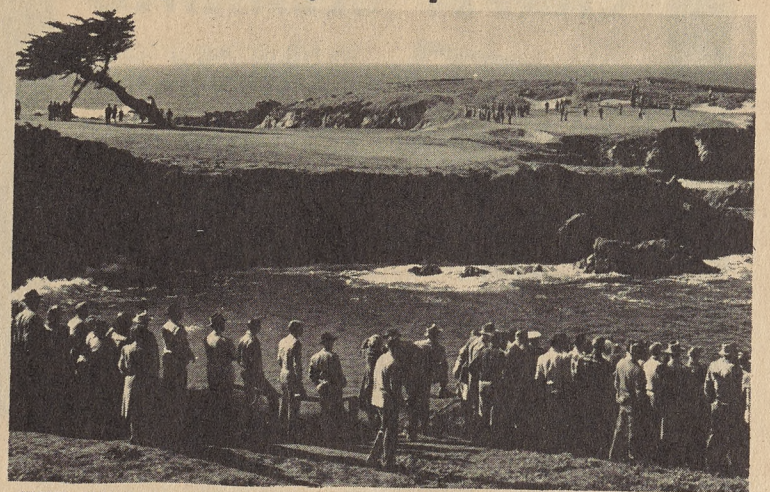

Indications are now that Connery, an avid golfer, will accept a coveted invitation from Der Bingle to play in the highly publicized event.

Connery is such an enthusiastic golfer that he has been known to say he would play as a pro if he could get his seven handicap down to scratch.

Other new participants expected include Glen Campbell, who rocked to singing fame, TV personality Mike Douglas and baseball great Pee Wee Reese.

Among the regulars on the invitation list are Dean Martin, Phil Harris, Andy Williams, John Brody, Hank Ketcham, Charles Schulz, Frankie Avalon and Bob Newhart.

There will be a field of 336

THE INCREDIBLE 16th at Cypress point never fails to draw a throng of awed viewers during the annual Bing Crosby Clambake. Even the golf pros find

Carmel High Whips Live Oak 76 to 60

Bruce Winkler scored 32 points to lead the Carmel High Padres to an impressive 76-60 victory over Live Oak High at Morgan Hill Friday night.

Using his height to great advantage, Winkler not only scored consistently but led his team in rebounding.

Guard Ross Smith added 13 to the Carmel offensive, while Malcolm Hall sparkled as a playmaker.

Carmel has piled up an impressive victory skein and appears set for league play which opens this week. The Padres play San Lorenzo Valley here Friday night and King City on Saturday.

In prelims last week, Live Oak upended the Carmel JVs 49-26, and also beat the Carmel frosh 70-29. In the freshman contest Barry Moore and Bob Conlan led the Carmel scoring with 8 points each.

Carmel High games on radio

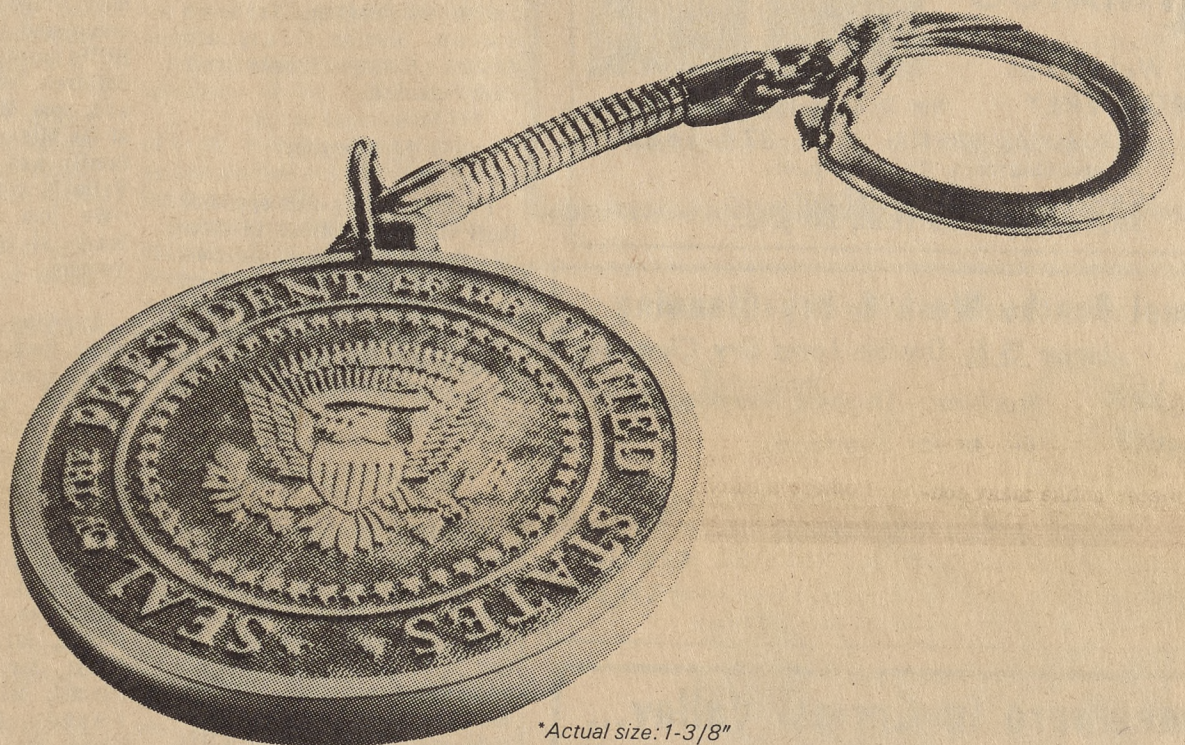

Carmel High School's Varsity Basketball team is good enough this year to merit on-the-scene, live and direct broadcast coverage of its games.

The Padres, sparked by junior transfer student Bruce Winkler (6-5) from San Jose, have already downed defending league Champion Palma, by nine points, and chief rival Pacific Grove on the Breaker home floor, by an impressive margin of 21. Carmel also upset Monterey High School, 62-50, to gain the finals of the Seaside Christmas tournament, where they lost to Lowell, fourth ranked of all the schools in San Francisco, in overtime.

The live broadcasts of Padre Basketball are over KRSA-FM (100.7 Mc) with Harold Gann Productions in charge of the play-by-play. Next broadcast will feature King City at Carmel Saturday night at 8:00 p.m.

Other broadcasts this month: Sat., Jan 19--Holy Cross at Cabrillo College; Fri., Jan 24 at Hollister, and Fri., Jan. 31--Pacific Grove at Carmel. Game times are all tentatively set for 8:00 p.m.

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan

Residents in the Sage-Ford Road area were pleasantly surprised one evening during the holidays upon answering their doorbells to find that the guests invited to the party co-hosted by Mrs. Frank DeAmaral Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cross were assembled for some real old fashioned Christmas caroling. Following their impromptu entertaining, the carolers left for the next house to the strains of "We wish you a Merry Christmas."

Festivities began and ended in Patricia De Amaral's home on Ford Road with a pleasant interlude on Via Contenta around an apple-flavored Was-sail bowl prepared by Joyce and Bob Cross. Lending their voices to the old Christmas favorites were Messrs. and Mmes. Dick Radowicz, Jack Converse, Gary Lyon, Roger Sherman, Gary Eldridge, D. D. McFaddan, Rex Pryer, Larry Busick, Gene Ciezadlo; Mmes. Richard Kern, Nancy Hogans, Donald Draper, George Thayer, Cass Robesky, Luther Washington, Mildred Hattan, Marion Gray, and Messrs. George Reams and Paul Patchick.

TO TUCSON

Former Valley-ites spending their first Christmas in their new home in Tucson, Arizona were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Earl McCamon. Mildred has accepted a position with the First Bank of Arizona and "Mac" will be associated with the grocery business.

PROFESSOR VISITS

A holiday visitor at the Middle Canyon Road home of Miss Mildred Armstrong was her cousin, Dr. Leon Ellis. Together the two-some drove to San Mateo to spend Christmas with other cousins. California was to be the last state-side stop for Dr. Leon Ellis, a retired Duke University professor and member of the diplomatic corps who was embarking after New Year's upon an eleven-month tour with ports of call in the Pacific, Australia, Africa, Italy, and England.

GUESTS AT SIMS'

Holiday guests at the Esquiline Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Sims were Mr. and Mrs. Edd Graham and son, Michael of Santa Rosa, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lopez and daughter, Joyce, of Concord, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Henderson of Oakland, and Marie Graham of Santa Cruz.

WOOLFENDEN VISITOR

Mr. and Mrs. John Woolfenden of E. Carmel Valley Road enjoyed as their holiday houseguest, Betty's sister, Dr. Helen Martin of Pasadena. The Woolfenden children with commitments in the Philippines, Los Angeles, and San Diego were unable to be with their parents this year.

EDWARDS VISIT SON

Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Edwards of Laurel Drive have returned from a four-day visit with their son Richard, his wife, and two-year-old daughter who reside in Long Beach.

CACHAGUA HOUSEWARMING

Dr. and Mrs. Willis Lyonn held a housewarming during the holidays for their new home near Princes Camp which was completed last summer. With Bill's practice in Monterey and children Julie, Gregory, Richard, and Willis, Jr. enrolled at the Mission School, the Lyonn family has happily joined the Valley's commuting populace. "We just all get ready and leave at once!" confesses Yvonne.

Enjoying the cocktail buffet were from Monterey Mr. and Mrs. Anton Hreprech (Yvonne's parents), Mr. and Mrs. Mike Vucina, Mr. and Mrs. Vince Ruccello, Mr. and Mrs. David Junkin, Miss Laura Romagnolo, and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Hreprech. Attending from the Valley were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Glasenapp, Mr. and Mrs. Dean McFaddan, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nason, Mr. and Mrs. James Pozzi, Mr. and Mrs. Varisto Girotti, Mr. and Mrs. James Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Rex White, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Pironi, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Lopez, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Steinmetz, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Tierney.

Rose cuttings to be given away Sunday at Old Mission

Sunday, January 12 is the day when the padres of Old Mission San Antonio, near Jolon, give away thousands of cuttings from the prize rose bushes in their monastery garden.

Free distribution begins at 1 p.m., and continues as long as the cuttings last. All are welcome. This is an annual event which attracts numerous rose fanciers, gardeners and other visitors.

The monastery garden contains 35 species of prize roses and 353 bushes, and is one of California's outstanding rose gardens.

The mission is easily reached from Highway 101. Those coming from the north turn west on Jolon Road above King City.

GLOBETROTTERS

Cards from faraway places have kept the many friends apprised of the whereabouts of globe trotting Gwen and Fred Starr and Luella and Irving Ollason. The former Valley-ites were planning to be a part of the impressive Christmas ceremonies before the statue of Christ the Redeemer on Corcovado Mountain in Rio de Janeiro. Other cards received have been postmarked Africa and Japan. The Starrs now make their home in Saratoga and the Ollasons are living in Pacific (Cont. on page 13)

AN UNFORGETTABLE CHRISTMAS PARTY

Carmel High Students host tots from Seaside's Toddler House

VALERIE SCOTT seems to be enjoying the book almost more than Derek Smith, an invited guest.

A LITTLE MORE skeptical than her aged friend Denise Torras, little Leslie Vaughn thinks a bit before she joins in.

IF "Sock It To Me" Tamie McDaniel could just get her toy back from equally enthused Tania Granoff, she'd have it made.

IT'S ALL VERY GROOVY with Etta Rae Black, but nonetheless, her friend Terry is just a little awed by it all.

In an age where college and high school campuses across the nation are racked with strife and violence, Carmel High School can provide a feeling of stability, and even moments of joy.

That's certainly what the feeling was in Brey Hall when the Humanities class hosted 15 tots from Seaside's Toddler House for a two-hour Christmas party.

The little ones, under the care of Lenore Pinkston, descended Carmel's Brey Hall stairs into what must have looked to them like a cross between the joy of fairyland and the awe of the Roman Arena.

The hall, fitted for the occasion with many brightly wrapped presents from the Humanities students and highlighted by a healthy Christmas tree, presented a frightening sight for some of the youngsters, and utopia for others. And what with the cider bought by the students and the cookies they baked, visions of sugar plums danced everywhere.

STUDENTS CARRIED AWAY

But a strange thing was noted by Ray Gere, Peter Lyon and Wally LeValley, who guide the Humanities course. The thing was, that although the tots, who ranged in age from 11 months to 4 years, reacted in a manner not unlike that of any child on Santa's knee, the Humanities students themselves, and many of their campus friends who dropped in, provided a real study.

In a class which, in its search for the answers to "What is the Good Man, the Good Life and the Good Society," often spends hours in some very heavy, scholastic and intellectual discussions, an air of sophistication (sometimes carried to the point of cynicism) is often reflected.

But not on this day.

The tots were mobbed by the hosts who sat in a circle around the little ones who were opening their presents, drinking their cider and munching their cookies.

And to say that the students enjoyed the party as much as their guests is an understatement. Once, in fact, one of the teachers was even heard to caution the teenagers in the circle, "Stand back and give them some air!"

IT WAS A LOVE-IN

After the first few minutes, it almost became a contest to see who could get closest to the pre-schoolers, help them unwrap their presents, or just hold a child, either a happy one or a scared one.

During the festivities, Henry Avila, the CHS music director, and three of his students, moved

EARLY IN THE PARTY, and still not sure quite what to do, hosts and guests go through the awkward period. On the floor at the left, Greg Scott, a graduate from CHS and Humanities who returned to say hello, seems to have caught the attention of Stacy Manning (back to camera), while Olga Lundblad (checked coat) holds Pamela Mitchel, who's initially wary of it all. Looking a little like a blonde and miniature Sir Winston, Richard Brewster, waits to see what Stacy will do.

In the back row, Ralph Forbes, Al Koontz, Scott Conway, guest Crystal Niblett (in front of Scott), Meg Gregory and pensive Jeff Canepa, await their turn on the floor.

DIANE HAWKINS and Val Hohler take a fashion tip from striped Valencia Lee, who offers a few pointers on how to brighten up the Female Humes in Brey Hall.

around Brey Hall playing their saxophone quartet's version of traditional carols.

And although the little ones were far too busy to sing, the students and teachers who wanted to, including Principal Arthur Gumbrell and Vice-Principal Neil Jensen, got their chance.

During the happening, many of the hosts and their younger guests traipsed across campus to the Pottery Shack by the pool. There, Master Potter Lloyd Baskerville and his students greeted the special visitors with hot cider and more goodies, plus a display of bright and imaginative ceramic work.

TOTS ENJOY EVERYTHING

Some of the little folk even tried their hand at pottery, under the watchful eye of the master's apprentice, Noel Mapstead.

Meanwhile, back in Brey Hall, Olga Lundblad was helping Mrs. Pinkston round up the brood. Mrs. Lundblad and her husband Ed, both of Carmel, provided the transportation to and from Carmel for the toddlers.

And Chris Lundblad, their 15-year-old daughter, the student who initially suggested Toddler House while attending a Humanities steering committee meeting one night before Christmas, was trying to direct some "Humes" who had loaded the decorated tree into their van. They were about to set off for Toddler House in Seaside, minus directions.

Days after the party, teachers Gere, Lyon and LeValley were still receiving good vibrations from their students, and the friends and parents of students.

And although charges were and still will be made by some cynics, of "token gesture" and "condescension on the part of the white ghetto," the people in Humanities only knew that it was a party.

And it felt good.

DEREK shows Debbie Canepa and Lynn White how to make a friddlegoogle go crosseyed.

RENEE SMITH seems to have already made up his mind about Berit Keeble's cookie, while Derek withholds his judgment.

LEISURE TIMES

Beckett's 'Waiting for Godot' slated at Forest Theatre

Two youthful theatre entrepreneurs, Dave Allen and Ronald Guillemette, will present Samuel Beckett's "Waiting for Godot," a tragi-comedy in two acts in Forest Theater, Carmel beginning Jan. 17 and for three weekends.

Also to be included on the same program will be a slide show on past Presidential inaugurations. This will be presented by Bob Allen, one of the team of two inaugurating the new-little theatre effort, called "The Young Artists' Theatre."

Director of the Beckett play is Ronald Guillemette, the other member of the team. He directed "In White America" at MPC last summer.

The play and slide-show will be presented Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30 for the three weekends beginning Jan. 17.

The slide show will feature the late Pres. Kennedy's inaugural address of eight years ago when he declared: "Let us begin."

Cast of the Beckett tragi-comedy includes Jeffrey and Eric Jennings, Wendy Grissim, John Rousseau and Dean Funk. They are present or recent MPC drama students of Morgan Stock, as are the two partners in the show, Allen and Guillemette, who graduated from MPC last spring.

Auditions are held for Priestley comedy at Community Theatre

Auditions for the farcical romantic comedy, "When We Are Married" by world famous playwright J. B. Priestley, are announced by the Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula.

The readings took place on Monday evening, in the Circle Theatre in Carmel, under the direction of Charles Thomas, the theatre's producer-director.

The Community Theatre productions are open to all residents and servicemen and women who wish to audition for acting roles or participate in back-stage activities.

"When We Are Married" winner of rave reviews in London, New York City and across this country is all about the respectability of the married state...to be or not to be puts 15 characters into a zany furor through three acts.

Characters include: The youthful church organist, Gerald and his 20 year-old sweetheart, Nancy; Ruby Brittle, teenage slavey of very limited intelligence and Fred Dyson, cheeky young newspaper reporter with his "beery" news

Movies at Youth Center may have to be curtailed

The Carmel Valley Community Youth Center announces its line-up of fine movie matinees specially selected for youngsters of all ages.

Due to a lack of attendance over the past season, the Center regrets that it will continue on for only two months; less if attendance does not pick up.

It is the intent of the CVCYC to put on a weekly matinee at 1:00 and 3:00 every Saturday at the very lowest possible admission fee (35¢) to pay for expensive film rentals. There is a well stocked snack-bar with everything from hot-dogs and hamburgers, to popcorn and candy.

There is always personal adult supervision, and ALL motion pictures are top FULL-COLOR features from the major producers. All features are approved by Parents' Magazine and by the National Legion of Decency.

January 11: "THE INCREDIBLE MR. LIMPIT" starring Don Knotts. Henry Limpit, a mild mannered bookkeeper, a fish-fancier and exponent of a theory of "reverse evolution," who "wishes he were a fish" suddenly gets his wish!

Special recommendation from Parents' Magazine for ages 5 and up.

January 18: "THE OREGON TRAIL." Fred Mac Murray stars as a New York Newspaper reporter sent to cover the situation in Oregon, enroute he finds many settlers have been attached by Indians --and there is action clear through.

photographer friend, Ormonroyd.

All in the middle age bracket are: Alderman Helliwell and his wife, Maria, bouncing and pompous; Councillor Parker, tall, thin, and conceited, with his quite vague wife, Annie; Herbert Soppitt, a neat little man, with his noisy wife, Clara.

Lottie is the painted lady of the town, no better than she should be. The Mayor and the Reverend Mercer are self-important small town characters.

The action takes place in Cleckleywyke, a town in England, about the turn of the century.

Bacon to perform

Joseph Bacon, one of the most outstanding American guitarists performing today, will appear in recital Friday at Monterey Peninsula College.

He will commence his program at 8:30 p.m. in the MPC Music Hall, playing, on both the guitar and the lute, works of composers ranging from the sixteenth century to the present day.

Tickets, at $1 for general admission and 75 cents for students, are available at the college community services office in the administration building on campus.

1940. Since then he has taught at the Rochester Institute of Art, the California School of Fine Art, and has been teaching at The Mass. Institute of Technology since 1965.

Minor White's books include "The Zone System," 1963; "The Encyclopedia of Photography," 1964. In addition to writing articles for every major photographic publication, Mr. White was the publisher and editor for "Aperture," 1952-65 and editor for "Image," 1953-57.

THAYERS TO WASHINGTON

Taking with them the best wishes from friends and neighbors for happiness in their new home in Washington, D. C. were Jackie and George Thayer and children who left last week for their new assignment. Their home at 99 Sage Road has been leased by Cmdr. and Mrs. John Furmanski and their four children. Coming from a station at San Pedro was actually a homecoming for Terry and John who were stationed on the Peninsula several years ago.

FIREMEN'S CHILDREN CELEBRATE

The offspring of the Carmel Valley Volunteer firemen were gathered at the Fire Station for a specially arranged pre-Christmas visit from Santa Claus who returned from a 'false alarm' aboard a fire engine. From his pack he produced a package for each youngster, heard their Christmas wishes, and led community singing. The cupcakes, punch, and party were provided by the Ladies Auxiliary under the direction of president, Mrs. Erasimo Belleci.

SAILORS GO SKIING

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Steuber traded their yachting caps for ski caps during their holidays when they made a sojourn to the ski slopes at Incline Village. Mr. Steuber recently relinquished the commodore's gavel of the Monterey Peninsula Yacht Club to Harvey Kilpatrick at the annual installation of officers and awards banquet held at the Mark Thomas Inn.

BLUEBIRDS TO COAST

Afield trip aboard the Coast Guard Cutter "Lamar" was enjoyed by members of the Poppy Bluebird Group. The girls encountered a group of skin divers near the Coast Guard pier who disclosed some of the secrets of their sport. Later they had a picnic luncheon at Dennis the Menace Park. Attending were Christine Belleci, Marit Arana, Susan Angier, Fawn Nicholzen, Anna Vanderveen, Jody Thayer, Page Clauson, M'Liz De Amaral, Pam Cross, Mary Jane Reuter, Elizabeth Kern, and Jenny Cate.

Citizen's Committee to hold important meeting in Carmel next Tuesday

The annual meeting of the Carmel Citizen's Committee will be held Tuesday, Jan. 14 at 8 p.m. at All Saints' Church parish hall. A refreshment period at 7:30 will precede the meeting.

President Admr. C. W. Fisher (USN, Ret.) will make his report on last year's accomplishments and this will be followed by a "free for all" discussion from the floor.

The Admiral expects an attendance of 125 or more to discuss many topics, including the possible expansion of motels in the R.1 residential district (i.e. the appeal filed by concerned voters against the permit granted Edgemore Cottages) and the proposed sub-division of the Grace Flanders property east of Flanders Canyon opposite 11th Ave. ("15 acres on which they have been talking about permitting some 60 houses").

Members have been mailed ballots on which to write in their candidates or to vote for a slate of officers nominated by Committee Members Dr. James Gilman, Mrs. W. E. Schenck and Steven Sassoon.

They are Admr. Fisher, pres., Percy H. Wilson, treas., and D. Paul Medalie, sec., all up for re-election. Directors Mrs. Dorothy Chapman and Mrs. Alice Hughes are also proposed for re-election with Bernard A. Anderson nominated as a new director.

Election results will be announced at the meeting.

Applications for Use Permits to be Heard Tomorrow

Applications for use permits by three Carmel Valley residents have been set for hearing at the meeting of the Monterey County Zoning Administrator tomorrow.

They include Robert Walls, on-site sign; Marie Stott, pan-handle lot; and D. H. Thorkelson, public stable, sale of horses and hay and grain -- two signs.

The administrator will hear these applicants together with others starting at 1:30 Thursday in his office at Salinas.

the Carmel River behind Farm Center, off Robinson Canyon Road. It has facilities for 50 horses and riding privileges on 340 acres. It is a private club, which teaches English riding and boards horses. It has a jumping ring and two polo fields.

The Hales and their three small children, Stormy, Brook, and a new baby girl named Sunset, moved recently from Rancho Pt. Lobos to a house across the river from the ranch.

Youthful club members, both girls and boys, are remodeling a building, half of which will be their own club room and the other half used for a polo club.

Sleepy Hollow Farms will hold its first horse show Feb. 2 and will initiate a polo field Jan. 26. The Rancho Pt. Lobos Polo Club has been dissolved and a new club is being organized, name to be announced soon.

THORKELSON STABLES

The Upper Valley Advisory Board decided to recommend approval to the County Planning Commission of a use permit for a public stable for 12 horses, sale of horses, hay and grain at a meeting at the Community Center Jan. 3.

The committee will also recommend that sale of agricultural products be limited to those grown on the site and that architectural design control be used. They also noted that C-1 (commercial) zoning might be necessary.

The site of the enterprise to be run by D.H. Thorkelson is mostly out of sight of Carmel Valley Road in the hills beyond the old Rancho Carmelo about 1-1/2 miles East of the Village.

Construction is to include a barn with eight stalls, tack room and hay storage area, plus a riding ring.

Green Meadows has fine year; elect officers, plan expansion

At the annual meeting of Green Meadows, Inc., owners of the Carmel Valley Golf and County Club, Quail Lodge and Burchfield Meadows (condominium apartments), the following officers were elected: Edgar H. Haber, President and Chairman of the Board; John H. Lohman, Vice President; James L. May, Vice President; Judson G. Sherrill, Vice President; Louis F. Hawley, Vice President; Myron E. Etienne, Jr., Secretary; and George H. Shafer, Treasurer. Green Meadows, Inc. is composed of a group of 30 stockholders, most of whom are prominent Monterey Peninsula residents.

Gross revenue from the country club operations for this past fiscal year was $634,130.00 as opposed to $471,500.00 for the previous fiscal year. These figures do not include revenues from real estate operations or Quail Lodge.

The sharp increase (35% over last year) in revenue was primarily due to the increased traffic generated by Quail Lodge, the club's resort facility, and was the reason given by President Edgar H. Haber for the start, next month, of construction of additional units for Quail Lodge -- one year ahead of schedule.

These will be ready by May and the balance of the $2,000,000 project, which will contain 96 rooms, is scheduled for com-

The thrift shop is open every Saturday and most Fridays and is attended by volunteer workers Mrs. Jean Quateroni and Mrs. Terry Decker. Donations may also be left in the church patio.

Tom Hudson says new organization gaining "Response has been overwhelming to our ads in the Monterey county newspapers on the college situation, 'Tom Hudson, former county supervisor and chairman of THE,'" said this week.

"We've gotten checks from a variety of people, from $1.00 to $300," he added.

With the support from Monterey county, Hudson announced that a San Francisco law firm has been retained to assist San Francisco State College faculty and student members who desire legal aid in maintaining a peaceful campus.

Hudson said that he had participated in a meeting in the Governor's office on behalf of the State College System trustees and, as a result, top legal talent from the State Attorney General's office has been made available to Pres. Hayakawa.

Additional chapters of THE are being started elsewhere in the state, Hudson said, to help spotlight the lawless elements at the College.

CAR FLIPS OVER

A Salinas man luckily escaped serious injury when his car flipped over on Los Laureles Grade Monday afternoon.

Thomas J. Woodhouse of 1242 Decker, Salinas, lost control of his car about one mile north of Carmel Valley Road.

The local fire department was summoned to the mishap when gas spread across the roadway; they washed the pavement down to prevent any possibility of fire.

C.V. Firemen answer three alarms

The Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department answered three fire alarms during the past week.

Last Wednesday afternoon a brush fire, believed started by children, burned off about 50 sq. ft. at 4220 Carmel Valley Road before it was contained by the firefighters.

On Friday the department was called to the Irene Baldwin residence on Flight Road to extinguish a small kitchen blaze. Damage was negligible.

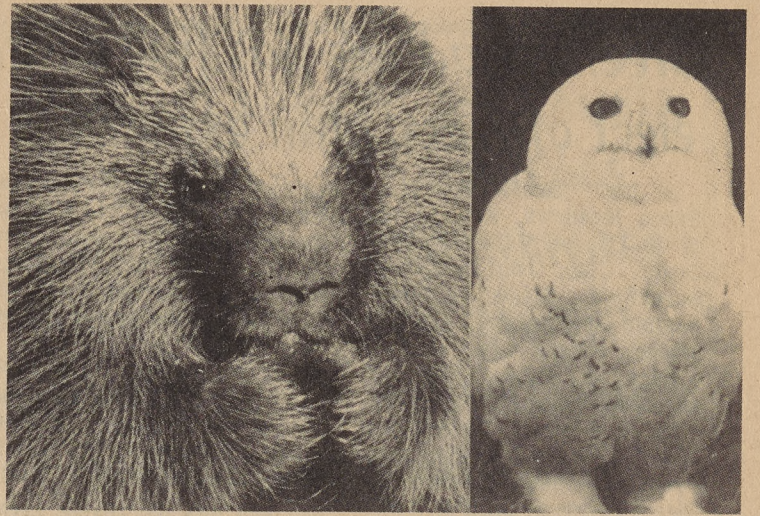

A can of grease on a stove in the kitchen of the Roger Sherman home on Paso Hondo was under control by the time the firemen arrived, Sunday evening.

The department also reported that it received a request for first aid late Thursday afternoon from Mrs. Cindy Young in Hitchcock Canyon. Her child was riding a bike which veered into a tree, but sustained only a bruised chest.

The holidays are not all presents and parties! "Goodwill toward men" was demonstrated by Carmel Valley Jr. Hi-Y members Bryan Call, Kenneth Copsey, Larry Harris, Don Hinton, Jason Johnson, Matt Lyons, Neil Miyamoto, Dick Steiny, Dennis Vandlingham, and Rys Weston.

With the assistance of their advisor, Will Johnson, the group made ornaments and decorated a tree for the patients at Carmel's Convalescent Hospital. The joy of giving did not stop there. Several meetings were spent planning a Christmas dinner box for a needy family in our community, through the Rev. Burkert Cree. With the help of good parents, the boys prepared a box with turkey and all the trimmings, a beautifully decorated Christmas cake, home-made salad dressing, fresh vegetables, canned goods, and extra goodies for the children--all wrapped up in love and the Christmas spirit.

It will be financed by the same Americans that have paid the salaries and who have built and are being asked to expand the finest public educational system known to man. These Americans, young and old, are not going to allow a handful of faculty and students to destroy, take over, or to close down San Francisco State or any public college institution in the United States.

The battle at San Francisco State will not be lost — it is now the focal point of every revolutionary oriented anarchist in the United States and abroad who have brazenly stated they are going to destroy San Francisco State College.

"THE" is a non-government, non-educational grass roots organization that will ask the entire nation to support and assist President S. I. Hayakawa, and the Board of Trustees to keep the campus open — it will further support and assist any other college administration in the United States similarly challenged.

"THE" will ask that our courts permanently restrain this small, intelligent, highly organized group of militants from further acts of provocation and violence. Disobedience will subject them to contempt proceedings, fines and jail.

It will ask that taxpayer suits be brought against these individuals responsible for damage to property and to recover costs incurred by the City of San Francisco and by the State of California in protecting our property.

It is a fund which will be used to show those that propose the destruction of these facilities, bought and paid for by the sweat of Californians, that Dr. Hayakawa and other college administrators do not stand alone.

A fund will be established to place similar notices nation wide. It is a fund which can provide scholarships for underprivileged students who want to study — not riot.

It will be the voice of the small taxpayer, as well as the large contributor, that can unify the state behind educational bond issues which can be justified.

It is a fund to which you can contribute WITHOUT REGARD TO AGE, POLITICAL AFFILIATION, RACE, CREED OR COLOR if you believe in our democratic processes over the forces of violence and riot.

It will be administered by a national firm of Certified Public Accountants under the direction of a small committee of leaders chosen from business, labor and government, to be assisted by leaders from the Young Republicans and Young Democrats.

A similar notice was placed in the Sunday issue of the Milwaukee Journal by Mr. Jeffrey De Gayner who is initiating a similar program in that city.

"All that is necessary for the forces of evil to win over the forces of good is for enough good people to do nothing."

Good people — get involved!

Join and participate in this massive national movement. Please do it today. Send in your coupon or write: (with or without a contribution).

Please make your check, large or small, to: "THE" Trust Fund. Deposits and accounting will be handled by a local bank. As indicated above, the first funds will be used to pay for newspaper costs. Surplus funds will be used for needed scholarships to encourage qualified needy students to pursue their aspirations for higher education.

We taxpayers for higher education support wholeheartedly your fight to keep open San Francisco State College and any other institution under your jurisdiction which may come under similar attack from the revolutionary movement currently in operation in Northern California.

ANNOUNCEMENT:

Because of the enthusiasm of the Good People who got involved already, we can now proceed to publish this notice in the San Francisco Bay Area. Dr. Hayakawa asked me to express his appreciation to the people of the Monterey Peninsula for their prompt response. T. J. H.
